The demand of M. Labori that the courtmartial should issue process, subject to the approval of the two sovereigns, came like a thunderbolt at today's session. The step is fraught with momentous consequences, as it affords Emperor William an opportuity to again assume his favorite role of arbitrator of the destinles of the world. No one will be supprised if Colonel Schwartzkoppen, in the name of the kalser, makes a declaration that will practically decide the results of the trial.

A Delicate Situation.

Reach An End This Week.

Rennes, Sept. 5.—M. Labori this afternoon telegraphed personal appeals to Emperor William and King Humbert to grant permission to Colonel Schwartzkoppen and Colonel Panizzardi, German and Italian military attaches in Paris in 1894, to come to Rennes to testify in the trial of Captain Dreyfus. This is the news of the day, and the chief topic of conversation in the cafes and resorts of the journalists this evening.

The appeals were couched in eloquent terms, invoking the assistance of their majestics in the name of justice and humanity. They were quite supplementary to the formal application that will be made by the government commissary, Major Carrriere.

The demand of M. Labori this contributed to develop conclusions which in themselves were sufficient.

"I am well aware," said counsel for the defense, "that we are face to face with a peculiarly delicate situation, but as I have not fine defense, "that we are face to face with a peculiarly delicate situation, but as I have not fine defense, "that we are face to face with a peculiarly delicate situation, but as I have not office to face with a peculiarly delicate situation, but as I have no conclusions of the court with regard to the conclusions I have the honor to submit, I beg to state that I have notified the government commissioner to name Colonels Schwartzkoppen and Panizzardia switnesses whom I consider it necessary to call before the courtmartial state that I have notified the government commissioner to name Colonels Schwartzkoppen and Panizzardia switnesses whom I consider it necessary to call before the courtmartial state that I have notified the government commissioner to name Colonels Schwartzkoppen and Panizzardia switnesses whom I consider it necessary to call before the courtmartial at have notified the government commissioner to name Colonels Schwartzkoppen and Panizzardia switnesses whom I consider it necessary to call before the courtmartial at have notified the defense, "that we are face to face with a peculiarly delic A Delicate Situation. ment is very near when truth and light are about to break forth showing the innocence of the accused."

Says It Is Impossible.

Major Carriere replied: "We cannot prejudice the issue of a trial in the conclusions submitted by M. Labori. One point seems to be extremely delicate. These conclusions amount to a request that the court instruct the government commissioner to ask the French government to submit to a foreign government, through diplomatic channels a request for the production of documents which are peculiarly non-diplomatic and possess little official character. Therefore this mission imposed on the French government is of a very delicate kind. I do not know if the government commissioner is qualified to perform such a function.

Dreyfus' Counsel at Outs.

Colonel Jouaust told Demange at the end of the session that if he received official notification that Colonel Schwartzkoppen and Colonel Panizzardi were coming to depose, he would be prepared to adjourn the trial pending their arrival. An adjournment of forty-eight hours would probably give them time to get here.

He prefaced his evidence by saying that he wished to throw full light upon his conduct in this case.

Mrs. Whitney had taken her two little boys to Cottonwood to spend the day with some friends, and Byron had been learning to ride. When he dismounted the horse, and it was being led to the barn, he followed too near the animal, which suddenly raised both heels, striking the boy in the breast and face. Several of the lad's teeth were knocked out and some severe bruises were sustained. It is hoped he is not injured internally. # John Gray Found Guilty.

John Gray was found guilty by a jury in Judge Norrell's court of burglary. The alleged offense was committed in July of this year. Gray, in company with Golden Brown, an escaped convict, broke into the room of W. F. Curran, in Maude Adams' boarding house on Third South street. The criminals were frightened away before they succeeded in taking anything.

Brown was expected to testify against Gray and had given the prosecution to understand so. At the last minute, however, he refused to give evidence against his companion, but the state had enough other witnesses to secure a conviction.

As soon as the case against Gray was finished the trial of issace Hughes, colored, on a charge of stealing $75 from John R. Knuckles June 17, was begun. A jury was secured with little difficulty and then court adjourned until this morning.
